

Institute of Education, C-10 Building
New Alabang, Cavite
www.csu.edu.ph

EDUCATIONAL POLICY AND CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT

1. Curriculum Development is the process of selecting, organizing, and evaluating the content and materials to be used in the classroom. It involves the identification of the needs and interests of the learners, the selection of appropriate content, and the development of learning experiences that will help the learners achieve the desired outcomes.

2. Curriculum Development is a continuous process that involves the identification of the needs and interests of the learners, the selection of appropriate content, and the development of learning experiences that will help the learners achieve the desired outcomes. It is a process that is constantly evolving and changing as the needs and interests of the learners change over time.

3. Curriculum Development is a process that involves the identification of the needs and interests of the learners, the selection of appropriate content, and the development of learning experiences that will help the learners achieve the desired outcomes. It is a process that is constantly evolving and changing as the needs and interests of the learners change over time.

4. Curriculum Development is a process that involves the identification of the needs and interests of the learners, the selection of appropriate content, and the development of learning experiences that will help the learners achieve the desired outcomes. It is a process that is constantly evolving and changing as the needs and interests of the learners change over time.

5. Curriculum Development is a process that involves the identification of the needs and interests of the learners, the selection of appropriate content, and the development of learning experiences that will help the learners achieve the desired outcomes. It is a process that is constantly evolving and changing as the needs and interests of the learners change over time.

6. Curriculum Development is a process that involves the identification of the needs and interests of the learners, the selection of appropriate content, and the development of learning experiences that will help the learners achieve the desired outcomes. It is a process that is constantly evolving and changing as the needs and interests of the learners change over time.

7. Curriculum Development is a process that involves the identification of the needs and interests of the learners, the selection of appropriate content, and the development of learning experiences that will help the learners achieve the desired outcomes. It is a process that is constantly evolving and changing as the needs and interests of the learners change over time.

8. Curriculum Development is a process that involves the identification of the needs and interests of the learners, the selection of appropriate content, and the development of learning experiences that will help the learners achieve the desired outcomes. It is a process that is constantly evolving and changing as the needs and interests of the learners change over time.

9. Curriculum Development is a process that involves the identification of the needs and interests of the learners, the selection of appropriate content, and the development of learning experiences that will help the learners achieve the desired outcomes. It is a process that is constantly evolving and changing as the needs and interests of the learners change over time.

10. Curriculum Development is a process that involves the identification of the needs and interests of the learners, the selection of appropriate content, and the development of learning experiences that will help the learners achieve the desired outcomes. It is a process that is constantly evolving and changing as the needs and interests of the learners change over time.

